August 2006 Order Comments:

Order growth maintained a double-digit pace for the 3 months ended in August. Favorable currency exchange rates contributed approximately 2 percentage points to the increase.

Process Management orders remained strong across the segment. Project bookings were strong in the North American power market and the Middle East gas market.

Orders for Industrial Automation remained strong driven by a favorable global capital spending environment. The growth for this segment was broad based with particular strength from the power generating alternator and electronic drives businesses.

Network Power order growth remained at high levels driven by the power systems, embedded power and inbound power businesses. Order growth moderated compared to July due to continued tougher comparisons and a deceleration in North American telecommunications orders.

Climate Technologies order growth moderated compared to July as the domestic residential air-conditioning business moved out of the primary cooling season and into a period of more difficult comparisons. The refrigeration business continued to have solid growth.

Appliance and Tools order growth remained solid driven by strength from the tools and storage businesses and moderate growth from the motors business.
